PRICE TWO CENTS

A SERIOUS CASE

Of Catarrhal Dyspepsia Cured.

Leonard F. Verdery.

LEONARD F. VERDERY, Real Estate and Renting Agent, of Augusta, Ga., writes:

"With many others I want to add my testimonial to the wonderful good Peruna has done me. I have been a great sufferer from catarrhal dyspepsia. I tried many physicians, visited a good many Springs, but I believe Peruna has done more for me than all of the above put together. I feel like a new person. I have taken the Peruna and Manalin together and always expect to have a bottle in my home."—LEONARD F. VERDERY.

Congressman Doviner of West Virginia.

Congressman B. B. Doviner, from Wheeling, West Virginia, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., says:

"I join with my colleagues in the House of Representatives in recommending your excellent remedy, Peruna, as a good tonic, and also an effective cure for catarrh."

Catarrh assumes different phases in different seasons of the year. In the summer the stomach and bowels suffer the most from the heat of the weather. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

IN A DEATH TRAP

Scene of Horror During a Stampede in Birmingham Negro Church.

SEVENTY-EIGHT KILLED

Mistaken Cry of Fire Causes a Wild Rush Which No Power Could Withstand.

Men and Women Swarm Over the Prostrate Bodies of Those Swept From Their Feet.

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 20.—The national convention of Negro Baptists which met in the Shiloh Baptist church three days ago, came to an abrupt and awful termination last night in a panic caused by a fight between two men in the rear of the edifice.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON

Booker T. Washington of Tuskegee, W. H. Council of Normal, Ala., and R. R. Wright of Savannah, Ga., three of the most prominent educators of the race, were on the program to speak and the church was crowded, when suddenly the audience was thrown into a panic by a conflict between two men. There were cries of "fight," "fight," which the assembled throng took for the more terrifying alarm of "fire," and a wild rush ensued for the exits. In the awful crush of humanity seventy-eight persons were killed and as many more seriously injured.

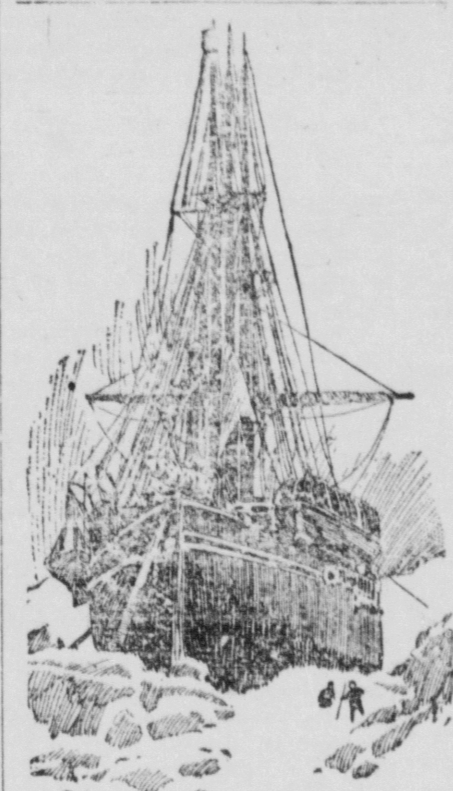

The catastrophe occurred at 9 o'clock, just as Booker T. Washington had concluded his address, and for three hours the scenes around the church were indescribable. Dead bodies were strewn in every direction, and the ambulance service of the city was utterly incapacitated to move them until after 1 o'clock. The church is the largest house of worship for negroes in Birmingham, and the pastor says there were at least 2,000 persons in the edifice when the stampede began.

Just as Booker Washington concluded his address Judge Billou, a negro lawyer from Baltimore, engaged in an altercation with the choir leader concerning an unoccupied seat, and it is said a blow was struck. Some one in the choir cried "They're fighting." Mistaking the word "fighting" for "fire," the congregation rose en masse and strated for the door. Men and women crawled over benches, fought their way into the aisles, and those who had fallen were trampled upon like cattle. The ministers tried again and again to stop the stampede, but no power on earth could stay the struggling, fighting mass of humanity. The level of the floor is about fifteen feet from the ground, and long steps led to the sidewalk from the lobby just outside the main auditorium. Brick walls extend on each side of these steps for six or seven feet, and this proved a veritable death trap. Negroes who had reached the top of the steps were pushed violently forward and many fell. Before they could move others fell upon them, and in fifteen minutes persons were piled upon each other to a height of ten feet. This wall of struggling humanity blocked the entrance, and the weight of 1,500 persons was pushed against it. More than twenty persons lying on the steps underneath the heap of bodies died from suffocation.

A squad of police and firemen hastened to the church and finally succeeded in releasing the negroes from their pinioned positions in the entrance. In an hour the church had been practically cleared and the sight which greeted the eyes of those who had come to aid the injured was sickening. Down the aisles and along the outside of the pews, the dead bodies of men and women were strewn and the cries of the maimed and crippled were heartrending. During the stampede Booker T. Washington and several leaders were on the stage and were unwilling witnesses to the frightful catastrophe. None of those in the choir or the pulpit were injured in the least. A remarkable feature of the calamity is that no blood was seen on any of the victims. They were either crushed or died from suffocation.

THREE YEARS IN ICE

That Was the Experience of the Brave Arctic Steamer Fram. Haugse Shund, Norway, Sept. 20.—The Arctic steamer Fram, homeward bound with the Sverdrup expedition on board, passed Utsire yesterday and took a pilot on board. For three years the Fram lay nearly motionless, imprisoned in the ice in Jones sound, a channel between Baffin bay and the

THE FRAM.

Arctic ocean. All the attempts to blow up the ice around the Fram proved fruitless, but in July of 1902 a heavy southern stream loosened the vessel from the ice. The Fram left Gothaab, Greenland, Aug. 16, but an accident to her machinery compelled her to make the homeward passage entirely under sail. Members of the expedition shot 100 musk oxen, which were eaten.

Surgeon Braskrug died while the Fram was in the north, and his body was buried in a hole cut in the ice. After the death of the doctor Captain Sverdrup took his place and attended to several cases of illness. The crew of the Fram speak of their leader in terms of hearty praise.

Peary's Plans.

Washington, Sept. 20.—It is said at the navy department that the question of the assignment to duty of Commander Robert E. Peary, civil engineer, who has just returned from his trip into the Arctic regions, will depend in great measure on what his future plans as to explorations are. If Commander Peary is going to shelve his Polar aspirations for some time to come, then a permanent assignment can be given him, but on the other hand, if he expects to make another northward trip in the near future, the assignment will have to be made with that idea in view. Commander Peary's leave of absence dated from May 27, 1897. He will undergo an operation to one of his feet, which was badly frozen in the far north, and he is not expected to be ready for duty until the latter part of November.

A KNOCK OUT BLOW

Signal Victory For Law and Order Gained in Kentucky.

BIG FIGHT IS NOW OFF

The McGovern-Corbett Contest For Championship Declared Unlawful By Highest Court.

Injunction Granted By Judge Fields Sustained By Court of Appeals.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 20.—The injunction granted Thursday by Judge Emmett Field of the Jefferson circuit court, restraining the Southern Athletic club and others from pulling off the McGovern-Corbett contest for the featherweight championship of the world at Louisville on Monday evening next, was sustained by Associate Judge James D. White of the court of appeals, yesterday afternoon, and the contest will not be held in Kentucky. Judge White invited the full bench of the court to sit with him and hear the case, which all but one member did, and the decision is one of the court, though the motion to dissolve the injunction was made before a single member of it. A majority of the court expressed the opinion that the glove contest which was enjoined in the lower court is a prize fight and that it is immaterial whether the purse was to be evenly divided. The six members of the court sitting divided equally on the most important legal question raised in the case, that of whether a chancellor had power to, by injunction, restrain the commission of a criminal act. The decision is, so the lawyers say, so far-reaching that it will prevent all boxing contests in Kentucky in the future.

The Club Gives Up.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 20.—Robert C. Gray, manager of the Southern club, declares the 23-round contest between Terry McGovern and Young Corbett, scheduled for next Monday night, off, as far as his club is concerned. Mr. Gray announced that the $30,000 worth of tickets which have been sold for the bout will be redeemed at any bank. The Southern Athletic is out about $5,000, including the forfeit of $2,500 put up to insure the bringing off of the contest.

BELGIUM'S QUEEN DEAD

Marie Henrietta's Long Illness Terminates Suddenly.

Spa, Belgium, Sept. 20.—Marie Henrietta, queen of the Belgians, died here suddenly last night at 10 minutes before 8 o'clock. Neither her husband, members of her family nor her majesty's doctors were present at the time of her death. She was seated at a table eating a light dinner when she was seized with an attack of syncope. Dr. Guillaume, who in the course of the day had remarked upon certain disquieting symptoms in the queen's condition, was summoned immediately, but her majesty was dead before he arrived. Two members of her suite were with the queen during her last moments. The queen has been ill for about three years past of a malady of the heart, and of recent months her condition had been so serious that little hope of her recovery was entertained.

Others had to be dug out of the debris to prevent their smothering to death.

GREAT RECEPTION

President Roosevelt Being Royally Entertained at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 20.—The most elaborate arrangements for the entertainment of President Roosevelt and party here today from 10 a. m. until he leaves at midnight for Detroit, are being carried out. He was met at the depot by Mayor Fleischmann, Frank W. Foulke, president of the Cincinnati Fall Festival association, and a large reception committee, together with an escort. The president held a reception at the St. Nicholas during the forenoon, and this afternoon he was escorted to the exposition grounds by a large military parade with a civic division consisting of members of the chamber of commerce, business men's club and other organizations. The president and party will be banqueted at 6 p. m., at the St. Nicholas. At this banquet Senator Foraker and most of the Ohio congressmen, Gov. Nash, Mayor Fleischmann, President Frank W. Foulke, and many prominent citizens will be present. About 400 plates will be turned and the appointments will be as elaborate as can be made. The president will make two addresses at Music hall while being escorted through the fall festival, one this afternoon and the other in the evening. He will be escorted to the exposition in the evening with another demonstration illuminated with fireworks along the entire line of march. By a proclamation of Mayor Fleischmann business was entirely suspended in shops and stores at noon and both the afternoon and evening will be entirely given up to demonstrations in honor of the president.

HABEAS CORPUS

St. Louis Boatie Gang Wants Out of Jail.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.—Pending the proceedings at Jefferson City brought before the supreme court to secure the release on writs of habeas corpus of four members of the house of delegates indicted on charges of bribery and perjury the grand jury has adjourned its inquiry until Monday. Circuit Attorney Folk went to Jefferson City last night to appear before the supreme court in behalf of the sheriff and jailer, who were cited in connection with the application for a writ to show cause why the prisoners mentioned should not be released from custody.

At the request of Circuit Attorney Folk, Mayor Wells last night sent a special messenger to each house of the municipal assembly asking for an appropriation of $15,000 for the contingent fund to be used by Mr. Folk to carry on investigation of alleged charges of bribery against the members of that body. In his letter to the mayor Circuit Attorney Folk said it was not expected that the members of the lower house who have been implicated in or expected to be indicted for participation in the alleged bribery deals, would vote for its passing, but it would give them an opportunity to go on record and show whether or not it will be necessary for the circuit attorney's office to depend on private subscriptions to carry on investigation and prosecution. Several members of the present house of delegates now rest under indictments charging bribery and perjury in connection with the passing of certain street railway and city lighting bills. Governor Dockery has authorized the issuance of rewards aggregating $1,800 for the arrest of certain indicted members of this and past house who have not yet been arrested.

MONEY CONDITIONS

Good Supplies of the Circulating Medium in the Country.

New York, Sept. 20.—Bradstreet's weekly review of trade today says: Jobbing distribution continues very active and retail business is improving. Now that the corn crop is practically made and the only possible changes are those of quality, the disposition to book fall and winter orders is unrestrained at the west and northwest. At the south the tone of trade reports is notably cheerful, largely owing to higher cotton prices because crop accounts are not so favorable as a week ago. Collections are on the whole good, and the consensus of reports as to this and as to money conditions point to good supplies of the circulating medium in the country at large. Whatever stringency is noted, a condition usual at this time, is limited to the employment of money in speculation. The claim is made that plenty of money is in the interior, and, indeed, at all centers for ordinary trade purposes.

THE OLD RELIABLE

CAMPAIGN IS OPENED

Indiana Now Fairly in the Throes of Political Battle.

Indianapolis, Sept. 20.—The Republicans opened the speaking campaign today. Meetings were held in nearly forty counties. There were two or three meetings in every congressional district. The most important meetings, however, will be held tonight, when Senator Fairbanks will speak at Anderson and Senator Beveridge at South Bend. Their keynotes will be read with much interest throughout the country. Attorney General Taylor will open the campaign at Muncie tonight, and a big turnout is expected. The speakers' bureau has arranged to follow up the work of today with daily meetings throughout the state. There is to be plenty of speech-making by the best speakers of the state and nation. In October some of the greatest speakers of the country will come into the state. Chairman Goodrich and other leaders are confident that there is a bright outlook for another substantial Republican victory. Up to '94 the Republicans and Democrats alternated in carrying the state, but since then Indiana has been reliably Republican. There are no indications now that it will flip to the other side. The success of the nation and state under Republican management and the general prosperity existing are elements of Republican strength in the coming fight that the Democrats will have difficulty in overcoming.

Two Interesting Political Announcements Have Been Made Here in the Last Twenty-four Hours.

One is that of Thomas Taggart that he is coming back to Indianapolis to take part in the local campaign. Taggart is regarded even by his opponents as a great hustler, and by the Democratic workers he is regarded as about the whole works. He has not been in the city much since he left the mayor's office a year ago, as his new hotel at French Lick has taken most of his time. The other announcement was by Chairman Elliott that the Republican county committee will this year not assess the members of the fire and police departments for the campaign fund. Mayor Bookwalter has decided that the members of the departments shall not be assessed. It has been the custom of both parties in city and county campaigns to assess the members of the departments, although it was in flagrant violation of the city charter. Both the county committees are now moving things at a great rate here.

The Collision Between a Union Traction Car and a Freight Train Near Marion in Which Twenty People Narrowly Escaped Fatal Injury, Has Revived the Talk About the Necessity of a Law to Prevent Such Accidents.

Only recently a Union Traction car dashed into a freight engine at Yorktown and one man was killed. There have been other narrow escapes lately. One of these days there will be a collision resulting in a serious loss of life unless either the railroad or the traction companies are compelled to put in interlocking switches. Auditor Hart, Attorney General Taylor and other state officials say that the present law is ineffective, as it does not give the officials mandatory power to compel the adoption of interlocking switches. The chances are, however, that the legislature will take the matter up and force one or both sides to take precautions for the safety of the lives of their passengers.

The United Mine Workers' Journal Today Printed the Following Synopsis of the Strike Situation:

"There have been rumors, reports, 'statements,' allegations, fulminations, but only one thing is clear. The anthracite strikers will stay out until they win. The strikers are firm and the operators are using abusive language instead of argument. No particular change in the West Virginia situation. All seem confident of winning." Today ended the nineteenth week of the great struggle, and there are no indications of settlement. It looks now as if there will be no hard coal anywhere this winter, as the supply that was stored away when the strike started is about exhausted.

Congressman Hemenway of the First District Will Not Be a Candidate for Speaker of the House.

In a communication to a paper here he says that he is not a candidate and that he will be for Congressman Cannon of Illinois for the place. If Congressman Cannon is made speaker, Hemenway in all probability will become chairman of the committee on appropriations, one of the most important positions in the house.

LOOKING INTO IT

John Bull Will Join Uncle Sam in Humanity's Behalf.

Washington, Sept. 20.—So far only one answer to the state department's identic note concerning the Roumanian Jews has come to hand. This was from Great Britain and consisted of a brief acknowledgment with a promise to look into the subject matter, which promise appears to have been kept by the prompt issue of an invitation by Great Britain to Germany to open negotiations on the subject. It is presumed that the other nations addressed will return their acknowledgments shortly. If they are all of the same mind as England it may be that a conference will be called of representatives of the powers signatory of the treaty of Berlin with the purpose of bringing pressure to bear on Roumania to live up to her obligations under that treaty.

Singular Cause of Death.

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 20.—Paul Omisco of Hebron township, this county, met death in a peculiar manner. He was standing near the railroad track with a crowbar on his shoulder. An engine came along and struck one end of the bar with such force that Omisco was instantly killed. Examination showed that the blow broke his neck.

Boycott Lifted.

Brazil, Ind., Sept. 20.—The Central Labor Union here at its last regular meeting declared off the boycott on the Terre Haute Electric company by a unanimous vote. A resolution was also passed taking the ban off the business men who were placed on the unfair list for patronizing the streetcars.

Farm Hand's Suicide.

Frankfort, Ind., Sept. 20.—Charles Livingston, a farm hand employed on the Frank Barnett place, four miles north of this city, committed suicide by taking laudanum. His body was found in a barn lot by Mr. Barnett. Ill health is assigned as the cause for the deed.

A WOMAN'S PRAYER.

It is notable that in the despondency caused by womanly diseases, there seems to many a suffering woman no way of escape from pain except at the price of life itself. It would be sad to record such a story of struggle and suffering except for the fact that in such dire distress many a woman has found a way back to health and happiness by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This great remedy for womanly ills has well been called "A god-send to weak and sick women." It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"Your medicine almost raised me from the dead," writes Mrs. Edwin H. Gardner, of Egypt, Plymouth Co., Mass., Box 14. "My urine was like brick dust, and I had pain all over me and such a dragging feeling it seemed I could not do my house work. I had to sit down to wash the dishes, even. In the year 1897 I was so sick I did not care to live and prayed many times that God would take me. One day I found a little book. I read it and wrote to Dr. Pierce, and in a few days received an answer. I decided to try his medicine, and to-day I am a well woman. I have no backache, no headache, no pain at all. I used always to have headaches previously to the monthly period and such pain that I would roll on the floor in agony. I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and was completely cured."

Accept no substitute for "Favorite Prescription." There is nothing just as good.

Our candidate for congress, Hon. Joshua M. Spencer, of Rising Sun, will attend the county convention today and tonight he will attend the opening meeting of the campaign in Seymour at Society Hall.

YOUNG GRANT'S COLT.

The Story of a Purchase That Earned the Boy Much Teasing.

When Ulysses S. Grant was a small boy living in Georgetown, O., he wanted, like most boys, to own a horse, and one particular colt belonging to a man named Ralston he wished especially to have. To indulge the boy's taste and buy the colt his father offered Mr. Ralston $20, but the owner valued the colt at $25 and refused the offer, taking the animal home with him.

As the hours passed after the little horse had trotted away with its owner Ulysses' disappointment and eagerness for possession increased, and he finally begged his father to pay the $25 demanded. His father said that $20 was all the animal was worth, but since Ulysses desired it so much he might go to Mr. Ralston and offer $20 again. If, his father added, he could not buy it for $20, he might offer $22.50, and if the owner would not let it go for $22.50, he might, in order to obtain it, give $25.

Ulysses therefore mounted a horse and set out for Mr. Ralston's. He was at that time probably about eight years old.

When he found the owner, he told him, "Papa says I may offer you $20 for the colt, but if you won't take that to offer you $22.50, and if you won't take that to give you $25."

The eagerness of the boy to gain the horse could not brook any barrier. It is needless to say that he paid $25 and led the animal home.

Grant said, in writing his memoirs, that the story of this purchase of his got out in the village and it was long before he heard the last of it. The schoolboys delighted in teasing him about it; schoolboys are very often little barbarians for tormenting one another, and they did not let Ulysses forget this one instance when he was behind the rest in cleverness.

He kept the horse for several years and finally sold it for $20, the poor animal having become blind. Later he found it taken from the road and working the tread wheel of a ferryboat which plied between the Ohio and Kentucky banks of the Ohio river.

THE PERPETUAL LIGHT.

Remarkable Lamp in Louisiana That Never Goes Out.

"The most remarkable lamp in this section of the country," said a man who cruises a great deal along the coast to the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "is to be found in the water area between Lake Borgne and Mississippi sound in a lonely, desolate, isolated spot, where the fall of human feet and the dip of oars are heard only four times a year.

"The light is some distance this side of Bay St. Louis and is a little south of Chincheba. It stands away out in the marsh, but can be seen from the Louisville and Nashville railroad. It burns all the time, day and night, year in and year out. It flickers away for the benefit of the mariners who frequent these waters. It is the Perpetual Light. The sun, the moon and stars may come and go, but the light which shines out in the dismal marsh is always the same. It is the one bright thing in a rather dismal stretch of country. Seaweeds grow wild and rank in that region. The land, such as one may see from a railroad train, is a flat and treeless waste. It is without any cheerful aspect, low, gloomy, overhung by miasmatic mist and a perfect prairie of wild and matted weeds of the kind which flourish in marshy regions. It is threaded by sluggish arms of water.

"Once every three months this lamp is visited by a human being. It is filled with oil, trimmed up and put in condition to burn for three months longer. Thus it is visited four times a year. It is situated so that the winds cannot put it out. It renders good service, never explodes, never goes out, never gets dimmer or brighter, but burns with the same steady power all the time. It has earned the name of the Perpetual Light."

A Heartless Interruption.

A young Parisian, noted for his grace and readiness as a second in many duels, was asked by a friend to accompany him to the mayor's office to affix his signature as a witness to the matrimonial registry. He consented, but when the scene was reached forgot himself. Just as the mayor was ready for the last formalities he broke out: "Gentlemen, cannot this affair be arranged? Is there no way of preventing this sad occurrence?"

A POUND'S A POUND.

But a Pound of Feathers is Heavier Than a Pound of Lead.

That old question about a pound of feathers and a pound of lead takes on new interest when we look at it in a simple scientific way. It seems absurd, of course, that a pound of one thing could be heavier than a pound of another thing, and yet that is exactly what may be shown in this case; not that the pound of lead is heavier than the pound of feathers, as most persons would say on the spur of the moment, but just the other way—a pound of feathers is heavier than a pound of lead.

This apparently inconsistent statement may be quite easily proved. With accurate scales weigh a pound of lead, using ordinary shot for convenience; then with the same scales weigh a pound of feathers, putting them into a muslin bag for the purpose. The feathers and the bag together must weigh exactly a pound.

The next step in the operation will show apparently that there is no difference whatever in the weight of the two articles, for you put the shot in one pan of a balance and the bag of feathers in the other, and after a little seesawing they will come to an exact level.

Now, however, the scientific phase of the question presents itself, and you are reminded that in weighing the articles thus in the open air you have taken no account of the buoyant power of the air, which bears everything up in proportion to the object's bulk. As the bag of feathers is of greater bulk than the shot, it is borne up more than the shot is, and for that reason it is necessary to use a little more than a pound of feathers to balance a pound of lead.

This, however, is theoretical. The practical proof is obtained when you place the balance bearing the lead and the feathers on the receiver of an air-pump and cover them with the glass bell. Then exhaust the air, and you will find that the pan bearing the feathers will sink and the pan bearing the lead will rise, thus showing that when weighed in the ordinary way the quantity of feathers used to make a pound is actually more than a pound.—New York Press.

FINS OF THE FLYING FISH.

They Are Used as Parachutes Rather Than as Wings.

Out from the warmer seas fly the flying fish, the fish of which every one has heard, which yet none can see for the first time without a gasp of amazement, without a feeling as though beholding the miraculous, the fish which has given rise to more untruthful stories than any other fish in all the seas.

Undoubtedly the flying fish has wings like a bird; undoubtedly it flies, yet not as a bird. It does not flap the wing-like, pectoral fins on which it is upborne, nor, once launched in the air, can it change its course by any movement of its wings until it dips again to the water. Yet it will pass a ship making ten knots in the hour and travel in the air as far as 500 feet at a time.

ASTONISHING, indeed, is the sight of a shoal of flying fish taking to the air, skimming far over the surface when the sea is calm, leaping high over great waves when gales blow. Fish seem ludicrously out of their element in the air, but that fish should fly is not really more wonderful than that some animals and birds, like the otter or the penguin, dive and swim to perfection.

The flying fish's fins are really parachutes to support and steady its body rather than wings to propel it. The lobe of the tail gives propulsion to the body as it leaves the water. A flying fish measures about a foot in length, and its long, transparent pectoral fins reach almost to the tail; but, though very large when expanded, they can be folded up very neatly. Its flight is short and intermittent, and it must needs continually dip into the sea to give itself a fresh start.—Pearson's.

Accurate Delay.

Many stories are told of the lack of punctuality upon southern railroads. It is said that when a New England man found his train, advertised to leave at 11 o'clock, starting at exactly that hour he complimented the conductor.

"Just on time, I see," he said genially. "All this talk I've heard of the lateness of your trains is without foundation, I've no doubt."

The conductor smiled at him gently. "This train, sir," he said without a trace of embarrassment, "is not today's 11 o'clock train, sir. It is yesterday's 11 o'clock. Today's will probably not get here from way down until tomorrow, sir."—Youth's Companion.

PROGRESS IN THE PHILIPPINES

J. Benj. Robertson Writes of the March of Civilization in those Distant Islands.

BAYOMBONG, LUZON, P. I., July 21, 1902. EDITOR SEYMOUR REPUBLICAN:

He who works in the states for a low salary sells only his labor. He who accepts a position in these islands, for the salary sells also his privileges of, and rights to civilized society. It is not some one thing or other that makes barbarism odious to civilized man. It is the sum of an endless number of differences which makes the civilized life a pleasure and the other life a displeasure. The privileges of schools, churches, security of life, stability of institutions should not be sold for a trifle.

However there can nothing but praise be spoken of the agriculture and commercial advantages of these islands. Advancing civilization will very soon make this land an invisible possession. This land will more than repay in dollars and cents all that our nation expends here. And to him who will lay aside for a few years his privileges of civilization this land will give reward.

The people of this province are obedient citizens of the United States. They are peaceable and generous and very hospitable. The six American teachers of this province have never had any occasion to use any weapon upon a native. And in fact, the constabulary, who are ever hunting for trouble, have, contrary to the old proverb, not been able to find it here.

And when we take into consideration the facts that the people here never were educated, that their language is very limited, and that their knowledge of the outside world is practically nothing, we feel that they are to be praised for their present endeavors. They are eager for education and considering their former state we must say that they are very apt to learn. From our standpoint the people are not civilized nor educated. But from their point of view they have advanced more within the last four years than in the four preceding centuries. In fact no country has made a more rapid progress within the last four years than has this. But even now they are only in the "A, B, C's" of civilization.

This people has all yet to learn. They must learn to talk, to work, to think, to be self dependent, and to tell the truth. They do not even know how to sow their accustomed crops but ever await the orders of the local government before they proceed to sow or to reap. We shall speak of the people and their education later.

Yours respectfully, J. BENJ. ROBERTSON.

Changed Conditions.

Rev. M. L. Haines, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Indianapolis, in speaking of his trip to Europe mentions the great change in the consideration of American affairs by the English people as shown in the columns of their newspapers. He says: "Twenty-three years ago, when I visited Great Britain and the continent, about all the information one could secure from the newspapers of the happenings at home amounted to one paragraph of telegraph news in the London papers. I remember how disappointing it was to look through columns of Australian and Indian news to find American news in one corner of a page, which always read 'Cotton so much, wheat so much,' and ended with 'Dr. Tanner is how on the twenty-third day of his fast,' and then to pick up the papers the next day and find the same thing, with only the addition of one day to Dr. Tanner's fasting period. Now all of this is changed and the London and continental papers devote much space to American news and their editorial columns contain discussions of American politics and conditions. The United States has been recognized as a power and the wonderful trade prosperity of the past few years has made it felt as the great commercial country of the world."

Our Methodist Ministers.

The Vincennes papers are publishing biographical sketches and half tone pictures of prominent Methodist ministers attending the conference. The Capital has the following to say of President Elder Baxter:

"The Rev. John M. Baxter, presiding elder of the Seymour district, who is here attending the conference, is a minister who is known in almost all the towns and cities of Southern Indiana and is meeting many of his acquaintances while here. Rev. Baxter is a native of Ohio and is also a survivor of the civil war, he having served his country three years with the 35th Ohio Volunteers. In 1864 he became pastor of a church in Petersburg, where he remained two years and was then assigned to Monroe City, this county. He was licensed to preach at Walnut Grove in the Wheatland district in 1869 and at this time the Rev. John Kiger was presiding elder. Rev. Baxter entered the Indiana conference at Salem in 1874 and in 1889 was appointed presiding elder of the New Albany district. After serving there for six years he was given a church at Seymour, where he remained four years. He was then appointed presiding Elder of the Seymour district and is now closing his third year in that office. Rev. Baxter, who was at one time a regular visitor in Vincennes, has not been here for some years until the present time and is much surprised at the rapid growth of this city."

In speaking of Rev. E. R. Vest, pastor of the Seymour Methodist church, the Vincennes Sun says:

"The Rev. E. R. Vest pastor of the First M. E. church of Seymour one of the most popular pastors of the state was born at Holman, Scott county 1852; graduated from DePauw 1885; entered the Indiana conference Sept. 1, 1885 at Spencer and was appointed to the Spencer charge. He received his A. M. in 1886, and his D. D. in 1898. He is the only minister in the M. E. church who received his first appointment as pastor of the church where the conference was held. To show how successful he has been he has averaged one member for the church for every sermon he has preached, since he joined the conference. During his pastorate at Seymour he has added three hundred and seventy-six new members to the church. As pastor of the church here he was one of the most powerful and hard workers the church ever had and was liked by all."

Josh Westhafer, of Loogootee, Indiana, is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by C. W. Milhous, druggist.

STATE NEWS NOTES

Incidents and Accidents and Doings of Note Throughout Hoosierdom.

WILL HAVE TO ANSWER

William Meyer, Defaulting President of Last Year's Base Ball Association Under Arrest.

He Was Taken In Chicago and Returned to Fort Wayne to Face Charges.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 20.—William Meyer, defaulting president of the Western Baseball Association in 1901, was brought here yesterday by Deputy Sheriff, Ryan, who arrested him at his home in Chicago.

He was charged in an indictment with embezzling $500 from the Fort Wayne club. Bond was fixed at $1,000 and was signed by William Kauff, Meyer said that he had made an offer to the baseball people to settle, but declined to say what that was. He owes each of the eight clubs $500 and $700, collected for association expenses. The date for the trial has not been set.

GHOULS AT WORK

Indianapolis Neighborhood Agitated By Grave Robbers.

Indianapolis, Sept. 20.—People living in Irvington and east of the city are excited over reports that a number of graves in the Anderson cemetery between Irvington and Brightwood, have been robbed. Investigation showed that the grave of Stella Middleton, a sixteen-year-old colored girl, had been opened and the body stolen, and other graves in the cemetery seem to have been disturbed. The body of Stella Middleton was found in the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons.

An Unprecedented Suit.

Anderson, Ind., Sept. 20.—Farmer J. S. Stoner has sued Farmer Jacob Arnett for $200 damages for "changing the disposition of the plaintiff's horse." The suit is said to be unprecedented. Both farmers live in Boone township, Madison county. Stoner alleges that one day in August, 1901, he hitched a gentle horse to a fence along a roadside. Arnett came along the road with his traction engine and the horse ran away. Since that day, Stoner avers, his former gentle horse has been unsafe to drive and is practically unfit for general purposes.

No Reason Given.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 20.—Albertus Shoemaker, aged thirty-five, married and father of four children, committed suicide at his home south of Salamanca. Shoemaker had been to Fort Recovery, Ohio. He returned home, ate a hearty supper and a while afterward remarked to his wife that he believed he would go hunting. Later in the evening he pulled a revolver from his pocket, placed the muzzle against his head and fired, dying instantly. His wife sent for physicians, but it was too late. No reason can be assigned for the act.

Creates Surprise.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 20.—The returning of indictments against Wm. J. Hearin and Mrs. Alice O'Malley at Philadelphia for larceny caused a decided surprise here. The St. Joseph county grand jury had adjourned for the September term without returning indictments, owing to lack of evidence and the prospective expense to this county should the cases come up for trial.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How it is Done in Seymour.

Sometimes the back aches with a dull, indelible feeling making you weary and restless; sometimes pain shoots across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use plastering or rubbing the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. To exchange a bad back for a new and stronger one, follow the example of this Seymour citizen.

Mrs. John Owen, corner of Beech and Jackson streets, says: "I suffered dreadfully from my back and kidneys and there were pains in my head. I doctored and doctored but received no permanent benefit. My kidneys were out of order, the secretions were annoying and my rest was much disturbed at night. I found that my back was being affected as time went by. On learning of Doan's Kidney Pills sold by C. W. Milhous I procured a box, although I had little expectation of finding relief. I was more than gratified when I found they promptly benefited me, relieved me of pain in my back, strengthened the kidneys and banished annoyance from the secretions."

For sale by all dealers, price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. sole agents for the U. S. Remember the Doan's and take no other.

PLAIN TALK.

STRAIGHT TALK AND TO THE POINT—THE VIRTUES OF DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS TOLD IN A FEW WORDS BY A SEYMOUR CITIZEN WHO KNOWS.

Mrs. J. A. Russell, of 19 East 8th St., Seymour, Ind., says: "I was troubled with severe nervousness and sleepless nights. I heard of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and thought I would try them. I got a box of the pills at A. J. Pellens' Drug Store and after taking part of the box I can say the results were quite satisfactory. I think the pills a splendid nerve tonic."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

REAR HISTORY.

Man That Came With Columbus Saw Indians Playing Ball.

"The world was a long time learning the uses and value of rubber," says H. E. Armstrong in Almslee's. "For two centuries after the Spaniards saw the gum in the hands of natives of the new world it was little more than a curiosity. Old Herro, who went with Columbus on his second voyage, made a note of an elastic ball which was molded from the gum of a tree. At their games the nude Indians made it bound high in the air. The Aztecs were familiar with the gum and I called it to smear it on their coats to keep out the wet. They had crossed the seas for gold and never dreamed of a time when the sticky milk the uncouth Indians drew from strange trees would be worth more than the treasure of the hills."

"Jose, king of Portugal, in 1555, comes down to us as the wearer of a pair of boots sent out to Paris to be covered with a waterproof gum. Yet 300 years were to elapse before a Connecticut Yankee should make a pair of boots of rubber which would not decompose. Dr. Priestly, author of a work on 'Perspective,' now forgotten, recorded that caoutchouc (pronounced kachook) was useful in small cubes for rubbing out pencil marks; hence the name rubber. The India linked with it refers to the savages who gathered it in the Amazon wilderness. Dr. Priestly's cubes were half an inch long and sold for 3 shillings, or 75 cents, apiece—a stiff price, for the finest rubber today is $1 a pound. Its price for ten years has ranged from 62 cents to $1.00."

"The conversion of the gum to useful purposes made but slow headway. The first waterproof cloth in 1797 was the work of an Englishman. It was tentative, and, of course, it would not stand heat. In 1823 Charles Mackintosh of Glasgow discovered naphtha, and dissolving rubber in it, produced a varnish which, when spread on cloth, made it really impervious to water. Most of the rubber used in the world still comes from equatorial South America, and the forests where the Indians gathered it are as dense today and almost as little known to white men as in the time of Cortes."

Towne—I see there's a new teller at the bank. I suppose Saugley was fired.

Towne—Ah! Resigned, eh?

Brown—Not exactly that, either. They're offering $5,000 reward for him. —Philadelphia Press.

Probable suicide.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 20.—Dr. A. M. Burns, at one time one of the most prominent physicians in the county, was found dead in his bed at his home in Bippus. Declining health and unfortunate Western investments had made him gloomy, and twice he had attempted suicide. His wife secured a divorce a few days ago. It is suspected he died from the effects of arsenic.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip, says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford county, Pennsylvania. 'I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea and was about to give up the trip when Editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me.' Sold by C. W. Milhous, drugist."

IT LACKED NOVELTY

A COLLECTION OF HEIRLOOMS THAT WEARIED AN OBSERVER.

The System of Renting Out Family Glory and Supplying Ancestral Trappings at So Much Per Hour Has Its Drawbacks.

Two guests were being shown through a Philadelphia mansion in which a nouveau riche broker was entertaining a party of fashionable friends. The splendid array of family heirlooms, abounding in a lineage of earliest colonial origin, deeply impressed one of the party. He was a stranger but lately arrived from Baltimore. His companion, a Philadelphia, seemed flippantly indifferent to these treasured relics of a family's honored history.

"Remarkable collection of heirlooms our host has," remarked the stranger as he stopped before a battle scarred sword of Revolutionary days.

"Yes," drawled the Philadelphia cynically, "very interesting. But unfortunately it lacks the charm of novelty for me. Already this season I've seen the same batch of relics in three other Philadelphia houses."

"How could that be?"

"Oh, simple enough. It only means that all four families, our host and the three others I refer to, hired their ancestral trappings from the same man."

"Hired them?"

"Yes, hired them. We have in this city an enterprising collector of colonial junk who makes a business of renting out family glory to all who were unfortunate enough to be born without it."

"Whew!" was the only comment the astonished Baltimorean could utter. And doubtless many Philadelphians would be moved to say "Whew!" if they could learn how many members of the Quaker City social elite are constrained to seek the assistance of the heirloom dealer when they wish to give a brilliant function.

It is a deception that is forced upon them, for unless you have distinguished appearing forbears you stand little chance of penetrating the sacred precincts of the local fashionable set. Ancestry, not cash, is the open sesame, and even if a man can claim some sort of a family tree his pretensions are questioned unless he can show some of the furniture or portraits that his American forefather brought with him on the Mayflower or the Welcome.

Of course if the two vessels named had been as large as the Great Eastern and had been loaded with nothing but heirlooms they couldn't have carried half the stock needed to launch the descendants of Pilgrim fathers into society. Hence the need of an heirloom dealer.

He has his warehouses in Pine street, in a part of the city which was once the center of fashion, but is now deserted by that element in consequence of the westward movement of the city's elite.

Obviously he is a curio dealer, but his revenue is mainly derived from furnishing and hanging the walls of fashionable dwellings with century old portraits.

This clever manipulator of men's vanities has ancient, straight backed furniture and copper kettles and snufflers for candles and bullseye watches and similar relics of ancient grandeur, all at your disposal for a night, when you, poor fellow, with money, but no ancestors, want your friends to know what an old family yours is! He also has rare furnishings for libraries and drawing rooms which you may rent if you have the price.

It matters not from what part of the country the applicant hails or what particular descent he wishes to claim, his needs are promptly filled.

For those who wish to pose as lineal descendants of the stanch old colonial patriots who fought the stamp tax and defied the power of King George at Bunker Hill and drew up the Declaration there is especially attractive stock.

For the haughty cavalier who "came over" with Lord Delaware there are costumes and furniture and portraits of more elaborate style, as befits the past of emigrants who in England basked in the favor of the king and were participants in brilliant court ceremonies.

The Quaker City allegiance to the honored memory of William Penn is a sentiment that the curio dealer has been careful to cherish.

On his walls he has portraits of studious looking Quakers. On his shelves are modest Quaker clocks that did service in the days when the founder was exchanging thirty blankets for Philadelphia.

There are Quaker walking sticks, tinder boxes, documents on all subjects, household utensils a legion.

It is true that this system of supplying ancestors has its disadvantages. Countretemps such as the one revealed at the beginning of this article are bound to occur. The hawklike eye of a connoisseur, trained to recognize instantly the value, authenticity and history of antiques, often pierces the deception and remembers seeing the "treasured family heirlooms" some where else. But in the main people are gullible, and the wealthy but plebeian aspirant for social honors vaunts the bluntness of his blood and points with pride to his hired heirlooms without much danger of discovery.

And meanwhile the crafty Pine street dealer smiles, waxes rich and echoes a celebrated remark of Puck's regarding the average intelligence of mortals.—Philadelphia North American.

The Hen's Plait.

"What's the matter?" asked the rooster. "More absentmindedness?"

"Yes," replied the hen. "I can never find things where I lay them."—Philadelphia Record.

KIDNEY DISEASE.

Its Insidious Progress and Sudden Termination.

Not long ago a man who had made a success in business bought a country place and retired from active commercial life. By all outward appearances he was a healthy man. He entered upon the life of his country home with great zest, engaging himself in the culture and care of flowers and enjoying the pleasures of out door life to the full. One day they found him unconscious on the lawn. The family believed he must have been the victim of tramps. The doctor came but could not rouse him from his stupor. When the autopsy was made it showed that death was the result of kidney disease long neglected.

This is a true story. The facts are given as the newspapers told them. Only the names are suppressed. It is a story that in one way or another is being repeated every day, the victims being men and women who suffer from "kidney trouble" and neglect it.

SLOW POISONING.

It is the office of kidneys to filter the blood and remove from it those foreign matters which if retained in the blood corrupt and poison it. The principles so eliminated by the kidneys are constantly being produced in the tissues of the body. The kidneys are therefore ceaselessly active and care for an enormous quantity of blood. When by reason of disease the activity of the kidneys is impaired, or when they are overtaxed by being required to eliminate from the blood an undue quantity of corrupting substances, thrown into the blood as a result of disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition; then it is that the poisonous deposit first begin to collect in the blood, and breed deadly consequences. The accumulation of the poison is slow, and the physical changes which accompany the poisoning of the system are slow also, and this makes the great danger of the disease. Many times the victim of kidney disease does not awaken to danger before the entire system is poisoned, and the struggle for life is desperate and doubtful.

ACT AT ONCE.

Prompt action cannot be too strongly urged upon those who have even the slightest symptoms of "kidney trouble." The timely use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will save both suffering and expense.

"For a long time I was suffering and was hardly able to get about," writes Mr. Andrew J. Jennings, of Thomas, Tucker Co., W. Va., Box 194. "Was bothered with kidney trouble and my whole system was out of order; had no appetite. A friend of mine told me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so and the first bottle restored my appetite. I took six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and feel like a new person. Think there is no better medicine and I heartily recommend these

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, cleanses the blood of waste substances and so removes one of the causes which conducted to the over-burdening and disease of the kidneys.

Do not be fooled into trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery" is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery" which is no "just as good" medicine can show.

medicines to every one whose suffering is of the nature that mine was." The symptoms of kidney disease are many and so varied that it is almost impossible to describe them all. In general the indications of kidney disease are pain in the back and loins, change in the urinary excretion, a depressed feeling with lassitude or weakness; irregular heart beat; hot and dry skin, deranged digestion, variable appetite, urinary incontinence, puffiness about the eyes, swelling of the ankles or in different parts of the body. These symptoms will not be present in any one case, probably, but any one of them is a reason for a prompt attempt to cure its cause.

DON'T TAKE CHANCES.

The symptoms of kidney disease are so variable and so liable to be mistaken that it is no uncommon thing for the inexperienced practitioner to treat the sufferer for the wrong disease. Such was the case probably with Mrs. Hayter, whose letter is given below. "Several different doctors treated her but none did her any good," until she consulted Dr. Pierce.

"I had been sick for more than a year with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Lucy Hayter, of Jacksonville, Jacksonville, Texas. "Several different doctors treated me, but none did me any good. One doctor said I never could be cured, that I had Bright's disease. I suffered nearly death at times; had spells the doctor called spasms. Was bed-fast most of the time for six months. My mother begged me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. With but little hope I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he said he could cure me. I began to take his Golden Medical Discovery, and although I had given up to die, I began to improve from the start, and by the time I had taken twenty-two bottles I was entirely cured. I thank God for the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I weigh more than ever before in my life and I am entirely well."

Dr. Pierce invites any person who suffers from disease in chronic form to consult him by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and is held as confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. A great many people, who, like Mrs. Hayter, have written to Dr. Pierce "with but little hope," have like her been perfectly and permanently cured by his treatment.

FREE ANALYSIS.

An analysis of the urine will be made free of charge. This often determines the nature of the disease when accompanied with a full statement of symptoms. Do not neglect this opportunity to obtain a specialist's opinion on your condition, absolutely without fee or charge, together with a free urinary analysis. If you are sick consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, without delay.

It is to be remembered that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, cleanses the blood of waste substances and so removes one of the causes which conducted to the over-burdening and disease of the kidneys.

Do not be fooled into trading a substance for a shadow. Any substitute offered as "just as good" as "Golden Medical Discovery" is a shadow of that medicine. There are cures behind every claim made for the "Discovery" which is no "just as good" medicine can show.
